

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office

April 9, 1997

LR 20, 32

through and picked and chose, and it was a matter of education process at that time. But it's not uncommon, we've not done it in the eighties, obviously, but that's fairly recent history. But certainly since the seventies it's not been uncommon to put a good number on.

SENATOR JONES: I just felt like they might have checked "no" last fall on quite a few of them. But I just wanted to ask that question. Thank you.

SENATOR COORDSEN: Thank you, Senator Jones. Senator Vrtiska.

SENATOR VRTISKA: Thank you, Mr. Chairman, members of the body. I'd like to ask either Senator Withem or Senator Kristensen a question, if I could, whoever is available.

SENATOR COORDSEN: Senator Withem, your name came first, would you respond to a question?

SPEAKER WITHEM: I'd rather go alphabetically, but that's fine, we'll go ahead and do it. (Laugh.)

SENATOR VRTISKA: Okay, Senator Withem, I don't really have a problem with it. The only...the issue came up and it was discussed, and I guess I'd like your reaction. Some people seem to have the impression that when you pick and choose you put some of these on the primary ballot simply because the low turnout doesn't give...seems to be an attitude of unfairness. I just wondered how you respond to that? Because some people say, well, you put them on there, there's a low turnout, therefore you really don't get the complete reaction of the voters that you would if you put it on the general election.

SPEAKER WITHEM: I guess I don't have a strong reaction to that. One of the things that Senator Kristensen and I tried to do, when we went through the list, and Senator Kristensen can either confirm or deny the statement that I'm going to make, but we went through and we tried to pick those that, based on testimony at the hearing, Floor Debate, and our sense of a likelihood of them being controversial and are basically choosing those that have not, so far, developed any history of controversy. And I believe, Senator Kristensen, that LR 20CA, which is one that has